HOLI: The most colorful spring HOLI-day!

Hey kids! The Holi festival marks the beginning of spring in India and is celebrated with great joy and happiness. Throwing colored powder and water on friends and family is the traditional and fun way of celebrating this day!

There are lots of images that remind us of Holi in the Museum. Can you find them? Pencils only please!

1. Many stories exist about the origin of the Holi festival. One story involves the god Vishnu protecting one of his followers from a burning fire! I hope there isn't a fire in the Museum!
